Allanta Constitution. It had been whispered around that Jake Loftis had flirted Malindy Jane Trotman, and was a hitchin' of his ridin' nag up at our house; but they didn't chawin' of our fence, Malindy Jane was inginnerly in the house.

The Trotmans is not the sort that sounds a horn and tells they business to everbody, and for that very reason some folks tries to find out ther affairs.

Malindy Jane she kep her sowin' hid and never let none of the neighbor gals but me and Caledoney see it, and Jake he got so he taken the nigh cut, and gin old Miss Freshours and old Arminty the old Miss Freshours and old Arminty the dodge when he went to see her, and they sot it down that he had quit gwine, and that it was all busted up betwixt 'em, or, "Mebbe," says old Arminty, "atter all he haint never coted the gal."

But when the Trotmans let in to whitewashin' ther house and fence, and then let in on the trees around the house, they have do in research to make the addition.

knowed in reason it meant a weddin'; but thar wasn't nothin' like findin' out for sartin. So Arminty tuck it on her-self to go over thar and stay the live long day. She hinted and hinted but all she gethered from Malindy Jane's maw was that the dock lowed lime was healthy. Caledony was a tellin' it at our house, and she-lowed that when granmammy Eve was a leavin' so much cu'osity to ole Arminty she never forgot ole Miss Trotman. She left her sense enough to come ahead of her. They didn't only whitewash, but they scoured and fixed up tel they didn't skacely know they own place, but Malindy Jane was the onliest gal the old folks had and she didn't git married every day.

To be sho if they'd had ther own sesso about it, they never would have picked out Jake Loftis; but who in all the land could they have picked out for a hus-band for ther gal, Malindy Jane.

The day was sot, and she axed me and Caledony to wait on her. Cal she come over to our house and we all went together. She fetched her yaller buff muslin (mine's off'n the same piece) and lowed me and her could fix and dress alike. So we wheeled in and sarched our yaller buffs so stiff they'd stand alone, and irrored our slick everythese. froned 'em slick enough to see your face in 'em, and we tuck the artificial off'n our last summer hats and stuck 'em whar our last summer hats and stuck 'em whar the overskirt was tucked up to one side, and we tacked a row of cedar all around the bottom of the fock and put a piece under our breastpins and a piece in our hair, and I wisht you could have saw us. I tell you we was fixt. Aunt Nancy lowed: "Gals, for all you do, don't out-shing the bride." shine the bride."

Buddy he hitched the steers in the waggin and sot in the cheers, and we all went, even to maw. We went soon so as to help Malindy Jane fix, and bless you when we got that the house and yard was plum full. They had been a comin' ever sense a hour by sun. I won't be sartin, but I think everybody that come fetched a baby and a bench-legged fice and a flop-yeared hound. We'uns allers fastens "Old Scrouge" and "Trip," and never let's 'em foller.

Atter I fixt the artificials in the fashion on Malindy Jane's head and lent her my neck-ribbin, (it's good luck to marry in sump'n borrid) I taken a peep in the set-tin' room to see who all was thar, and behold thar sot the Simmonses big as who but they, and I know in reason they wasn't axed nor wanted; and who should be hiked up on a bench all in a row but them tore down Freshours' chillun grand as you please, and still for the fust time in they lives, and ther faces was raily so clean I didn't skacely know 'em. They had shorely been put to soak the night afore. Ther skin was as shiny and slick as a pecled ingon, and ther har plastered down tight with saff soap, and they looked plum satisfied.

Over in the corner sot the three old maids, Miss Bunch Eeasly, Miss Patience Potter and ole Arminty Pendergrass. Miss Bunch is as broad as she's long and as good as she's broad. Miss Patience is as long as a beautiful description. is as long as a bean pole and as good as she's long and is funny enough to make a dog kill hissef a laughin'. She wears a short freek to try to make her look short, and all the colors of the rainbow to make her look young. Pap lowed she looks like Joseph's coat. Ole Arminty was a settin' right side of 'em. Now thar was three old maids as different as the elephant and the monkey and the tiger. So folks needn't say old maids is all alike. And widders lacks a heap of bein' all alike, too. The widder Comings was thar, and you wouldn't have knowed she was a widder. But the widder McAllister played fishin' for love, and put on a sight of airs. She tuck keer to let everbody know she picked the turkey and baked the tatercustards and half moon pies. short frock to try to make her look short.

Jake he was the last one to come. He had his head drippin' with lard and scented with cinnamon draps, and his new shoes was so tight he couldn't skacely walk. I wonder if a feller ever got married without havin' on tight boots or shoes?

Some town boys was out in the entry al giglla. Cal lowed if she'd a been Maindy Jane they shouldn't er been axed, one of 'em in pertickler, I disremembe, als name. She lowed he thought kase he lived in town that was all he kase he lived in town that was all he needed. He had the enshorance to laugh at country boys with ther homemade jeans, and all he was fitten fur was to wear fit? Sunday clothes that wasn't paid for. He strutted around mighty higoty and smoked and chawed terbackor, and took his sweetened dram, tied his cravat in the fashion, pulled his mustache, and played with his watchchain, and when he laughed at them boys he laughed at his betters. One good, honest, hard workin' country boy like Iky Roberson, Cap Dewberry or Jake Loftis is worth enough of his sort to build a fence from here to town.

Yes, everbody knowed when Jake got thar by the cinnamon draps. Brother Cole was axed to marry 'em, and as many couples as he has joined he don't know his piece; he had to read it, and they helt a candle and dript the taller a lach thick on the po' old man's containing.

Caledony and Iky Roberson steed together, and I and Cap Dewberry, and when we tuck our stands, Malindy Janeshe got on tother side of Jake and Brother Cole he wired his spees and sot in to readin' and spellin' out his words.

Reasons Why You Feel Badly.

Because your stomach is not doing its work properly. Because your liver is out of order, and wants righting. Because your blood is thin, and needs iron in it. Because you are troubled with nervous aches and pains. Because you are vexed with languor and debility,
All these Reasons Can be Set Aside by the Use of Brown's Iron Bitters, which will Tone up your enfeebled stomach, and help it to digest. Refresh your wearied liver and put it in splendid order. Enrich your watery blood, and give it a rich red color.

Strengthen your whole system and drive debility and languor out.

Considering that any man who has a dollar may buy of the nearest druggist a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, there is no reason why people should continue to feel badly, just for the fun of it.

Calm your worried nerves, and give them restful peace.

CANCER FOR 14 WEARS.

Spartanburg, S. C., March 14, 1884.

I have for 14 years been a sufferer from a ruuning sore on my face that everybody called a Cancer. I have used over $200 worth of medicine and found no relief. About four months ago I bought one bottle of Swift's Specific from Dr. H. E. Heinith, and since have bought five others, have taken it, and they have cured me sound and well! My face is as free from a sore as anybody's, and my health is perfectly restored. I feel like forty years had been lifted off my head. Hours thankfully.

Mr. B. F. Burns, Hone, Ark., says, and the der date of Jan. 22, 1884; "I have take five bottles of Swift's Specific for a sore on my temple—said to be a cancer. I have been wonderfully benefitted and will soon be a well man."

Mr. W. R. Robison, Davisboro, Ga. writes, under date Jan. 3, 1884; "I amfect ting on finely, the ulcer is gradually healing. I feel that Swift's Specific will cure the horrible cancer which has been feeding on me for over 20 years."

Mr. W. H. Gilbert, Albany, Ga., says: "A gentleman namicd Moore near this city had an eating cancer on his face, which had eaten away his nose and his under lip, and had extended up until it had nearly reached his eye. The cancer was eating his gums and had rendered his teeth so loose that be thought they might at any time drop out. He has been taking Swift's Specific about three months, and its effect has been wouderful. It has driven the poison from his system, the cancer has healed greatly, his teeth have become strong again, and be thinks he has been rescued from an awful death. He is the most enthuslastic man I ever saw."
